Camp Suggestions

Persons who have ideas for the improvement of or camp are asked to write them out and place them in the box provided.

When the truth is received into the heart, it begins the work of refining and sanctifying the receiver. He who cherishes the truth, will not feel that he has no more need of enlightenment, but will realize as he carries out the truth in his practical life, that he is in need of continual light that he may increase in knowledge. As he brings the truth into his life, he will feel his real ignorance, and realize the necessity of having a more thorough education, that he may understand how to use his ability to the best account. {CE 137}

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

We have a precious loving Saviour.... Many have Jesus so exalted in their minds that He seems far off and they have no communion with Him. But Christ took upon Himself human nature and was called the Son of man, because He was to become acquainted with all the trials ... and with all the sufferings of humanity, that He might know how to succor those who are tempted.

To the weeping ones He says, I have wept. I know how to sympathize with you. He is a Saviour that by our side to help, and strengthen, and succor us. You may take all your trials, all your troubles, all your sorrows to Jesus in prayer; you may feel that He is at hand to help you in every emergency, and He will give you just the help you need. He wants us to have joy in Him, and in order to do this we must come in close connection with Him. We cannot dishonor Him more than to distrust Him. And we honor Him when we believe in Him and are obedient to all His commandments. E G White Sermon, June 20, 1886, Orebro, Sweden.
