THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

John strove to lead the believers to understand the exalted privileges that would come to them through the exercise of the spirit of love. This redeeming power, filling the heart, would control every other motive and raise its possessors above the corrupting influences of the world. And as this love was allowed full sway and became the motive power in the life, their trust and confidence in God and His dealing with them would be complete. They could then come to Him in full confidence of faith, knowing that they would receive from Him everything needful for their present and eternal good. Herein is our love made perfect, 'he wrote, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as He is, so are we in this world. There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear.' And this is the confidence that we have in Him, that, if we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us: and if we know that He hear us...we know that we have the petitions that we desired of Him."{AA 551.3}
