TEXT FOR THE WEEK

"Ye have heard that it hath been said,
Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate
thine enemy.

But I say unto you, Love your enemies,
bless them that curse you, do good to them
that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;

That ye may be the children of your Father
which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun
to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust." Matt. 5: 43-45

"Rules Necessary for Government in the Home.-- Every Christian home should have rules; and parents should, in their words and in their deportment toward each other, give to the children a precious living example of what they desire them to be. . . . Teach the children and youth to respect themselves, to be true to God, true to principle; teach them to respect and obey the law of God. Then these principles will control their lives and will be carried out in their association with others." {AH 305.3}

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The covenant of grace was first made with man in Eden, when after the fall, there was given a divine promise that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. To all men this covenant offered pardon, and the assisting grace of God for future obedience through faith in Christ. It also promised them eternal life on condition of fidelity to God's law. Thus the patriarchs received the hope of salvation. Adam and Eve, at their creation, had a knowledge of the law of God. It was printed on their hearts, and they understood its claims upon them. The law of God existed before man was created. It was adapted to the condition of holy beings; even angels were governed by it. After the fall, the principles of righteousness were unchanged. Nothing was taken from the law; not one of its holy precepts could be improved. And as it has existed from the beginning, so will it continue to exist throughout the ceaseless ages of eternity. After the transgression of Adam the principles of the law were . . . definitely arranged and expressed to meet man in his fallen condition. Christ, in counsel with His Father, instituted the system of sacrificial offerings; that death, instead of being immediately visited upon the transgressor, should be transferred to a victim which prefigure the great and perfect offering of the Son of God. {AG 131}
